A Hermit in the Himalayas - Paul Brunton. Paul Brunton was one of a very small number of his generation to travel in India and Tibet so extensively at a time when very few were doing so with such insight and discernment. His journalistic skills produced magnificent descriptions of the snowy peaks and high-desert landscapes of the Himalayan region, but it was the lessons he learned from the holy men he met on his journey that transformed him into one of the great interpreters of the East.

I had high expectations as the book implied him going to live hermit life in Himalayas. Well PB was really far from real hermit life (which he sort of acknowledges in the book) as he lived first in a comfortable hut and then in a big house. He had servant, lots of luggage, people who carried it, horse, typewriter, guests, mail deliveries and ...
