FIFTY YEARS AMONG THE BEES. BIOGRAPHICAL—BOYHOOD DAYS. Fifty miles east of Pittsburg lies the little village of Ligonier, Pa., where I was born June 10, 1831. Twenty miles away, across the mountains, lies the ill-fated city of Johnstown, where my family lived later on, The scenery about Ligonier is of such a charming character that in

Indeed, a man that winters his bees in the basement and carries them in and out by hand each of the 50 years earns the right to say I. Plenty of useful information here that is still relev Indeed, I shall claim the privilege of putting in the pronoun of the first person as often as I please; and if the printer runs out of big I's toward the last of the book, he can put in little i's.
