Lovers of the rich burnished tones of the cello will appreciate the keynote of this volume: complete scores of three great romantic cello concertos brought together in one convenient source. Spanning the last half of the nineteenth century, the compositions reveal extraordinary lyricism, imagination, and individual interpretation of the concerto form. The works in this volume are Robert Schumann: Cello Concerto in A Minor, Op. 129; Camille Saint-Saens: Cello Concerto No. 1, Op. 33; and Antonin Dvořák: Cello Concerto in B Minor, Op. 104. Generations of cellists and music lovers have savored these works for their unique qualities: the Schumann concerto for its ravishing interweaving of cello and orchestra; that of Saint-Saens for solid musical craftsmanship; the Dvořák work for enchanting melodies and exceptionally rich invention. Now musicians can enjoy the felicities of each work, complete and unabridged, in this sturdy, attractive Dover volume. Reprinted directly from authoritative editions, this volume offers not only great music but also the quality features that musicians have come to expect from Dover: clear reproduction of musical notation; ample space for analysis, notes, fingerings, etc.; glossaries of musical terms; and more. For playing or study, this inexpensive edition is a must for every serious cellist. "

Three of the most popular Romantic violin concertos performed today in one volume. Includes Beethoven, Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D Major, Opus 61 (1806); Mendelssohn, Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in E Minor, Opus 64 (1844); and Tchaikovsky, Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D Major, Opus 35 (1878).

Abstract: n the early years of the twentieth century, Victor Herbert (1859-1924) was one of the most talented and versatile composers in American music. Although Herbert's 'serious' instrumental music had not surpassed his 'light' operettas, his 'serious' vein had been the main focus of his life up until 1894. As an artistic cellist, Herbert composed a large number of cello works, among which I will focus on his two cello concertos: Concerto Op. 8 and Concerto Op. 30. In the history of the cello concerto, Herbert's two concertos certainly stand as an influential monument for his fellow composers, especially his Concerto Op. 30, which inspired Dvorak to write his Cello Concerto in B minor, Op. 104. These two concertos show his distinguished compositional style and ability in 'serious' music. Continuing the stream of the classical concerto, the Concerto Op. 8 consists of a conventional three-movement frame and each movement displays a traditional formal structure. On the other hand, the Concerto Op. 30 follows the late Romantic style with its one-movement form, its cyclic elements and thematic transformations that fuse three distinctive movements into one, and most of all, its symphonic orchestration. This study begins with an overview of Herbert's life, his cello works, and his professional career as a composer, a performing cellist, a conductor and an advocate for musician's rights. In the next two chapters offer a detailed analysis of Herbert's Concerto Op. 8 and Concerto Op. 30 respectively, including the historical background, the theoretical concepts of form, the tonal structure, the development of elements, and author's performance practice suggestions. A list of Herbert's Cello Compositions and important recordings are in Appendixes A and B respectively. Unfortunately, the powerful, vigorous, lyrical, passionate and dramatic qualities of Herbert's serious compositions have been ignored by present critics, conductors, performers and audience. I hope this study will bring Herbert's two cello concertos to another triumph since their first premieres in the twenty-first century's music world.

Many of the earliest books, particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before, are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive. We are republishing these classic works in affordable, high quality, modern editions, using the original text and artwork.

(Schott). Schumann's Cello Concerto in A minor was never played in his lifetime, receiving its premiere 4 years after his death. It has, however, become one of the most popular concertos for the instrument along with the works by Dvorak and Elgar.

This clear, accessible approach to the standard repertoire offers professional and amateur musicians practical advice for performing the music of Bach, Handel, Vivaldi, Telemann, and other composers of the Baroque era.

This compilation features five works by a prolific 19th-century composer of theatrical music whose oeuvre ranged from incidental music to full operas. Reproduced from authoritative sources, the contents include Light Cavalry, Noon and Night in Vienna, Beautiful Galatea, Vienna Jubilee Overture, and the title piece.
