It is possible to solve word problems when two people are doing a work job together by solving systems of equations. To solve a work word problem, multiply the hourly rate of the two people working together by the time spent working to get the total amount of time spent on the job. Knowledge of solving systems of equations is necessary to solve these types of problems.

It's inevitable—at almost any workplace you will run into “problem” coworkers. Some of these types of problematic coworkers include the negative coworker, the overly competitive co-worker, the gossip, the bully, and the person who pushes off work. Hopefully, your office doesn't have too many of these types of people, but if it does here's how to—almost, anyway—deal with working
