You can be the leader you want to be--today and every day. Do you find yourself wishing you had more hours in the day? Do you want to do more, yet feel you just can't add another thing to your plate without being overwhelmed by stress or compromising your health, relationships, and integrity? Seeing the Leader in You is part of a series that is aimed at enabling you to develop an individual leadership profile and an individual skills profile, through the process of self-reflection, culminating in the development of a plan for leadership improvement. The philosophy that underpins the approach taken in this series is that becoming a leader in an organisation (or any other setting) is a privilege, but this privilege comes with certain obligations. A prime obligation is that leaders are morally obliged to serve first the organisation and its people rather than their own self-interests.This book specifically covers the qualities and personality traits found in good leaders, and the process of developing the self-awareness to identify those qualities.
